

Part-time private office at Allia Future Business

A private office for your team a few days a week

We understand teams are working from home more, but still need an office space to work together occasionally – so we now offer a 'part-time private office' share, where your team gets its own dedicated workspace - with all the usual benefits of a standard office, but for as little as one day a week. Allowing you all to work from home or remotely for the rest of the week, but have a regular day or two working together, safely, as a team.

With docking stations, monitors, keyboards and lockers - plus all the regular benefits of a private office - available for just one day a week, or more, as required.

As the space is shared - other teams will work in it on the days you don't - it will be regularly, thoroughly cleaned, and rest assured, the entire Future Business Centre is Covid-secure.
